SEVENTEEN "CUTS."

The University has passed a rule providing for the loss of credit for those students who "cut" classes in one course seventeen times in a semester without a sufficient excuse.

The University is supposed to be for students who are seeking to better themselves by acquiring a higher education. Why allow any unexcused "cuts" at all to those negligent students?

WOMAN ALWAYS FINDS A WAY.

If a woman is really very anxious to do something she usually finds a way to accomplish her desire. Nor does she procrastinate. If it is a mechanical device she may make use of that handy, versatile hairpin. If she must get around or persuade that hard-headed member of her family, her ingenuity seldom fails. She has courage enough to do anything, if she realizes the deed must be done.

The Walnut Grove Baptist Church, near Rocheport, has been sadly in need of repair, papering, painting and general clean-up work. The women of the congregation decided things must be altered. Consequently to provide means for the expenditure, they donated all the eggs collected last week. More than 250 dozen were gathered and $39 were the total receipts.

The woman has the courage of her convictions and the spirit of Betsey Ross, the maker of the American Flag. This is another reason for the futility of opposing her desire for the ballot. If the men refuse she will manage in some way to obtain her wish.

STUDENT SENTIMENT AGAINST IT.

Those persons who threw pop bottles at Bishop, captain of the Kansas baseball team, Friday when he refused to let another player run bases for Taylor are poor sportsmen, and, let us hope, not representative of the Missouri spirit.

Missouri is noted for and takes pride in her courtesy to visitors. There is no rule in baseball which says a team should allow its opponents to make such a substitution, and Bishop, who was working under his coach's orders, had a perfect right to make Taylor run his own bases. To be sure, one would not have been much danger to Kansas in letting a man who was not crippled run, for Missouri was not hitting the ball or playing up to her opponent's standard, but it was nobody's business but Kansas'.

The Missouri bleachers were naturally indignant, for their idea of sportsmanship is to extend such courtesies to the other team. But there was absolutely no excuse for the persons who threw pop bottles and shouted insults at Bishop. Their action reflects on the whole school.

W. R. NELSON TO TALK BY TELEPHONE, 175 MILES

being a member of the National Equal Suffrage Association and many other clubs. Her talk at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Auditorium will be on "How the Press Views the Feminist Movement."

E. W. Hodges of Arkansas to Talk. Immediately after Dorothy Dix's talk, Earle W. Hodges will address the audience on "Journalism and the State." Mr. Hodges is now Secretary of State of Arkansas.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, Mrs. Amy R. Haight, an artist and magazine writer, will talk at Switzer Hall on "Missouri Women in Literature and Art."

H. W. Brundige, assistant to the publisher of the Los Angeles Tribune and Express, will talk at the Assembly Tuesday. Mr. Brundige was formerly a Missouri newspaper man. He attended common and high schools at Gallatin, Mo., and at various times editor of the Gallatin, Mo., North Missourian, a reporter on the Kansas City Journal and Times and city editor of the Kansas City World. He is identified with the Progressive party movement in California.

At 1 o'clock Mrs. W. E. Ewing of Odessa, Mo., will lead an informal discussion on "Country Newspaper Work as a Field for Women," in Switzer Hall.

A writer of tales of the Ozarks, Mrs. Anna M. Doling, will speak at 2 o'clock on "Journalism in the Ozarks." A discussion lead by Lee Shippey of Higginsville, Mo., on "Small-City news Possibilities" will follow.

J. W. Morrison of the literary department of the Kansas City Star and J. P. Baumgartner of the Santa Ana, Cal., Register will give talks.

Chapple Has Happy Habit.

Joe Mitchell Chapple of the National Magazine of Boston will tell "What Magazine Readers Want." "The happy habit" is one of Mr. Chapple's hobbies. As a young newspaper man Chapple went to Europe and interviewed John Ruskin and they were fast friends ever after.

He is a native of Iowa, and began his newspaper career with some boyish labors on the La Porte, (Ia.) Progress. When he was a young man the Chapple family moved to South Dakota and lived a pioneer life on government prairie land, with Indian outbreaks raging not many miles away.

Joe Chapple went to Boston in 1897 and joined William W. Potter in publishing "The Bostonian." They later changed the name to "The National Magazine."

There will be a band concert on the West Campus at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. After this, at 8 o'clock, William R. Nelson will deliver his speech over the long distance telephone from the office of the Kansas City Star to the University Auditorium.

Following Mr. Nelson's address a woman from the frozen North, Mrs. Mary E. Hart, president of the Pacific Coast Women's Press Association, will tell her experiences in the Far North. Mrs. Hart's childhood days were spent near Russellville, Mo. She left Missouri twenty years ago, and fourteen of that number she has lived in the snows of Alaska.

Alaska Woman Is Versatile.

Mrs. Hart is writer, lecturer, traveler and club woman. She is president of the Alaska Cruise Club, the Travel Club of the North, and will have charge of the club rooms of that organization at the Panama Pacific International Exposition.

She is the newspaper woman pioneer of Alaska. She has met and crisscrossed its problems and probably is better informed on Alaska, its people and its needs than any other woman in the world. She tells many interesting stories of her first trip to the far North, how she was swung off by a crane into a pitching small boat and arrived in Nome when there was not a bed to be had in the city and it was only a cluster of tents.

J. V. Linck, of the St. Louis Republic, who for a number of years has spent his summers traveling with the St. Louis Browns will tell his experiences, "Traveling With a Big-League Team," in Switzer Hall at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. A discussion of "The Problem of Crime News," will follow. C. N. Marvin, editor of the Sentinel-Post, Shenandoah, Iowa, will speak on "Getting the News of Two Counties."

"Community Service" His Subject.

Frank LeRoy Blanchard, editor of The Editor and Publisher of New York City, will speak on "Community Service." Mr. Blanchard has had many years experience in the field of journalism.

The week after he was graduated from Bates College, Lewiston, Me., in 1882, he joined the staff of the New York Tribune as a reporter. Mr. Blanchard has been assistant editor and assistant manager of the Evening Telegram (New York City), Sunday editor of the New York Morning Telegraph and associate editor of The Fourth Estate.

Colonel B. B. Herbert, editor National Printer-Journalist, Chicago, and Roy M. Edmonds, night editor of The St. Louis Republic, will make talks Wednesday afternoon in Switzer Hall.

Saturday Evening Post Artist Coming.

Herbert Johnson of The Saturday Evening Post, will give a crayon talk in the Auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. Mr. Johnson will be followed by Thomas Dreier, editor Associated Advertising, Cambridge, Mass., an advertiser and speaker of international reputation.

Charles Nagel, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor under former President Taft, will speak at Assembly Thursday morning on "The Newspaper and the Law."

Mr. Nagel has been in politics ever since he was a small boy. He began when he was 14 years old by going with his father in a migration from Austin County, Texas, on account of political convictions.

After some months of travel he and his father reached Monterey, Mexico, proceeded from there to Mantamoras, finally boarded a sailing ship at the mouth of the Rio Grande, and after a three weeks' trip landed in New York and came on to St. Louis. Nagel's home ever since.

Mr. Nagel was graduated from the St. Louis High School, attended the University of Berlin and then began the practice of law in St. Louis. His subsequent political career followed.

A buffet supper will be given by the Columbia Commercial Club at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. At this supper Dean Walter Williams and W. J. Pilkington will talk. A. Ross Hill, president of the University, will be toastmaster.

Is Business' "Bilby Sunday."

The "Bilby Sunday" of the commercial world is what W. J. Pilkington is called. He is editor of the Merchants' Trade Journal of Des Moines, Ia., and is often introduced as the best friend of the merchant and clerk in the United States. He is a master business builder, entertaining lecturer and forceful writer.

Friday morning H. R. Palmer, assistant editor of the Kansas City Star; John P. Cargill, telegraph editor of The St. Joseph News Press; Ralph B. Baird, staff photographer The Kansas City Post and George E. Macellus of The American Press, will address the public at Switzer Hall.

In the afternoon T. W. Le Quatte, advertising manager Successful Farming, Des Moines, Ia., a man who rose from country school teacher to the top-notch of the advertising profession and G. Prather Knapp, of the St. Louis Ad Men's League, will speak.

A man who directed the work of gathering war news in the field during the Spanish-American war, H. N. Rickey, editorial director The Scripps-McRea League of twenty-five newspapers, will speak after a band concert at 8 o'clock in the Auditorium Friday night.

Mr. Rickey will be followed by Lee Shippey, whose address "In Conclusion," will close Journalism Week. Lee Shippey is publisher of the Higginsville, Mo., Jeffersonian and a chautauqua lecturer with humor.
